Comments for Public Posting: As a resident of a motorhome, I am categorically against the forbidden law on housing in motorhomes. Living in a motorhome was the best choice for me, given my personal circumstances, which included an economical budget. The prohibition of this type of housing will be a violation of my rights to choose my place of residence and freedom of movement, which I consider unfair and discrimination against the residents of motorhomes. It follows from the above that the introduction of a ban on housing in a motorhome is unfair and discriminatory against those who have chosen this type of housing. I urge legislators not to adopt a bill banning motorhomes, but to encourage natural housing diversity and to be positive about new forms of housing, which are the best choice for many people!

Comments for Public Posting: No one in their right mind would pay for bad conditions! Rather, the destroyed houses that stand on the street are not rented by anyone.
