Comments for Public Posting: I strongly support the single stairway bill. We need to make it easier to build affordable housing, and to design buildings that are attractive to look at, and good to live in. We used to be able to build beautiful, affordable apartments, and this bill will help make it possible again.

Comments for Public Posting: The housing crisis in Los Angeles should be the #1 priority of this city's government. I support single-stair reform as one piece of addressing the housing crisis. Single stair designs primarily increases housing affordability by improving square footage efficiency and reducing construction costs. Single stair designs also allow for more flexible floor plans, including larger, family-sized units with multiple windows - resulting in brighter, more livable apartments with better natural ventilation.
