As a homeowner and resident of Los Angeles, I was very disheartened to learn of all the ill health effects of Nitrogen Oxide (NOx) that is released while burning fossil fuels. The fossil fuels we use in our homes and businesses releases over nine times more NOx and contributes more pollution into our outdoor environment than all our power plants in the region combined. The fossil fuel companies have been misleading the public for decades that they are providing a clean fuel and profiting from their products. However, pollution resulting from their fossil fuels negatively impacts our health, especially to those in disadvantage communities. Pollution is also a large contributing factor in our climate crisis which impacts all of us as we all witnessed in the recent wildfires. If we continue to delay, another generation of NOx-emitting appliances will be installed in our homes and businesses, locking in another 15-20 years of pollution generating appliances. Please help us move away from fossil fuels and support Item 25.
