Comments for Public Posting: I was struck by a car while riding my bike on Sunset blvd in Echo Park in 2011. Although I'm sorry to say I suffered some permanent injuries, I am still riding. I ride to try and do my part for the environment, and so as not to harm my fellow Angelenos. Sunset in Echo Park is becoming a lively destination - but this is diminished by the high speed, threatening level of traffic just beyond the sidewalk cafes. Please, let us join the civilized world and have the kind of amenities that a first class city like Los Angeles should have.
