Comments for Public Posting: I'm a big fan of the Sunset4All initiative, and any initiative in general that makes streets more walkable/bikeable. I want to call out specifically though that there are many improvements that can be made in the surrounding areas of Sunset to improve pedestrian safety. Many streets have no pedestrian crossing making the safe walking route unnecessarily long to get from surrounding neighborhoods to Sunset (specifically near the Sunset/Lexington). Having additional buffers from cars, improved crosswalks, and more thoughtful intersections would go a long way for pedestrian convenience/safety. There are also things we can be doing to improve the general look/feel of the streets with improved fixtures/grass/plants/trees/etc.
