Comments for Public Posting: As a downtown resident, I oppose the sign district at the development. WE DO NOT NEED A PROLIFERATION OF SIGN DISTRICTS FOR EVERY NEW PROJECT. Digital signage is visual blight that damages the public space and affected private space. It is only a matter of time before the landowner requests amendment to permit "off site" signage to garner ad revenue. Don't let this bad precedent begin.

Comments for Public Posting: Shame on you Mayor Bass for proposing a transportation budget that not only echoes every so-called conservative Republican administration, policy or platform of the last near half century in how it defers the truly hard, meaningful, essential and important work that must be done today to provide all Angelenos better, safer, saner and more inclusive transportation options and streets/byways tomorrow, and thereby prevent us from being encumbered, burdened by shortsightedness, NIMBYism and every and any other form of narcissistic, prejudiced and myopic city planning. Your proposed transportation budget moreover reflects the so-called "Project 2025" of extreme survivalism, self-centeredness, and outright climate change denialism to somehow imply, or actually state in the most unabashed terms possible that gas-powered cars are the be-all-and-end-all, and that Los Angeles is destined to become a survivalistic, anti-community, and anti-humanist so-called "place." With this proposed budget, you are effectively abrogating any of your environmental stewardship responsibilities such that if it becomes law, Angelenos can only look forward to in the most gruesome and cruel terms possible fending completely for themselves the moment they step outside their homes. If proper funding is not restored, if not increased, Mayor Bass, it will most certainly guarantee the end of your soon-to-be brief mayoral tenure thanks to this horrific proposal.

Comments for Public Posting: Dear Mayor Bass: Please do not cut the budget for animal shelters because animals are more vulnerable than people, and have no where to go but the animal shelters. Animals cannot go find an apartment to rent, nor can they look for a new job. Animals are the most vulnerable to your budget cuts than any other budget cuts. If you close even one animal shelter, more animals will be killed to make room for even more incoming animals who need shelter. Please realize people can always look for new jobs if you cut some services to people, but animals cannot look for a new job so they have money to live somewhere and buy food to eat. Shutting down animal shelters is the most cruel and unnecessary thing you can do. Please take the correct and humane action and DO NOT close any animal shelters or cut the budget for animal services. Instead, cut the bloated budget for other services, so you can protect animals, our most vulnerable resource. Thank you in advance for not cutting animal services' budget. Sincerely, Kelly Dohr Sincerely,

Comments for Public Posting: On the heels of Mayor Bass' announcement that she will be fully funding LAAS in the upcoming budget, I am writing to urge the city council to approve the proposed city budget during the scheduled vote this week ONLY if it provides full funding for LAAS. Animal advocates are eagerly waiting and expecting that LAAS will have the funds to make itself a model city-run animal shelter by becoming an animal's first stop on the way to adoption, not death. Animal advocates are also watching to ensure that, once LAAS is fully funded, LAAS begins to work more cooperatively with volunteers, both locally and those from established animal rights organizations who have proposed millions of dollars in donated assistance to LAAS in order to improve animals' lives and adoption rates. ANIMAL ADVOCATES WILL BE WATCHING OUR CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS CLOSELY THIS WEEK, TO ENSURE THAT THEY VOTE HUMANELY, AND WE WILL VOTE ACCORDINGLY IN THE NEXT ELECTION!

By hosting periodic tours, we have learned that the public benefits from our home's HCM designation. We urge you to restore funding to the Office of Cultural Resources and the Barnsdall Arts Park Foundation, so the public can continue to benefit by experiencing Hollyhock House. It's world-wide cultural significance is immeasurable. Thank you for your consideration. Sam & Janet Robertson Friends of Ward-Berger House Foundation 3136 Lake Hollywood Dr. Hollywood CA 90068 USA

Comments for Public Posting: Dear LA City Council and Mayor Bass, It is inconceivable that Day Labor Centers have been removed entirely from the city budget of Los Angeles. As the former Outreach Coordinator and Site Manager of the Downtown Community Job Center in LA Fashion District, I can directly attest to the value and benefit of Day Labor Centers, not to mention day laborers themselves. Day laborers play vital roles in our communities. Whether in LA Fashion District, Harbor City, or Van Nuys, day laborers provide innumerable services to our Angeleno communities: not only from general labor and warehouse work, but also fire clean-up and restoration efforts we witnessed in the case of the Palisades and Altadena fires earlier this year, and the Woolsey fires years ago. Day laborers face a number of obstacles to permanent work, which makes our day labor centers even more necessary. Wage theft and safety hazards are all too common for day laborers. At Day Labor Centers, day laborers obtain jobs at or above the minimum wage, learn about their rights as workers, practice health and safety tips, and build community with workers from diverse countries and walks of life. Day laborers also volunteer in our communities, such as at neighborhood cleanups, or participate in City events, such as May 3rd, Dia del Jornalero. At a time when anti-immigrant sentiment is not only on the rise, but emanating from the highest positions of leadership in this country, it is dire that the City of Los Angeles double-down its solidarity with immigrants. This anti-immigrant climate means that Day Labor Centers are even more indispensable, as sources of refuge, legal support, and compassion. Not to mention, Day Labor Centers are practical in the direct resources and services they provide, that many of us may take for granted: roofs over our heads, clean bathrooms, safe waiting places, literacy classes, free health screenings, and more. We ask that you reconsider the removal of Day Labor Centers from the City Budget, and prioritize Day Labor Centers at or exceeding the current level. Day Labor Centers are vital spaces for day laborers to receive support, and it is day laborers who in turn improve our city through the work that they do. Given that money does not grow on trees, and the City operates on finite resources, I simultaneously ask that you divert funds from the Los Angeles Police Department to fund Day Labor Centers and other support services. By supporting Day Labor

Centers and other social programs and initiatives, we are making proactive efforts to ensure that members of our community receive the resources and support that corresponds with every human being. Well-resourced communities make the police obsolete. By investing in Day Labor Centers, you are investing in a future for Los Angeles where we all - day laborers included - belong, contribute, and shape the city we all love and call home. Thank you in advance for your time, consideration, and commitment to protecting immigrant communities. Sincerely,
David Ferrándiz

Comments for Public Posting: Council Members, and Mayor Bass, The homeless cat population is completely out of control. I've been trapping and fixing cats in LA since 2012. There is only one organization that fixes feral cats that serves ALL of greater Los Angeles. Please fund spay/neuter programs for feral cats (and dogs) so we can make a dent in the suffering. It is a crisis that for some reason the city of Los Angeles has not taken seriously. Meanwhile, hardworking individuals with jobs and families, are doing the work that the city should be doing. We need FREE spay/neuter for animals in Los Angeles. And please fix the voucher program. It's pathetic.
Sincerely, Chilly Nathan
