Comments for Public Posting: Public Comment Sample: I am writing in support of designating the First Baptist Church of Venice as a Los Angeles Historic Cultural Monument. The building sits across from Oakwood Park in what is left of Venice's Black neighborhood and is a classic example of late mid-century architecture. It is important as an acknowledgement of the long history of the soon to be erased Black culture in this beach community. Over 111 years, the First Baptist Church of Venice has played key roles in the community. It can be historically restored to again provide a site for community building, community health, community non-profit work, and community events. A community center with a homage to its history as dynamic Black Venice! I urge you to strongly and urgently consider the cultural significance for so many as Black Venice is replaced. Please preserve this beautiful and historical church as the Venice Crusades re-invents the area. It's important and past time to designate the First Baptist Church of Venice as a Los Angeles Historic Cultural Monument.
