Not at All Likely to perform any of the non-strolling/transit connection activities	13
Total	378

Now, I am going to read a list of features. For each I read, please tell me how important each is to you when making your decision to engage in any of the activities you provided a "likely" response to. Please tell me if each of the following features is very important, somewhat important, just slightly important or not at all important in making your decision to engage in any of the activities. (Note: 13 of the respondents stated that they were "not at all likely" to engage in any of the non-strolling/transit activities.)

8. Safety, like extra security, bike patrols
9. Cleanliness, like sidewalk sweeping, extra trash pick-up, pressure washing and graffiti removal

^ The relationship between sample size, confidence level, and margin of error when data are given in terms of proportions is described by the following formula:

where n is the sample size, Z_{α} is the standard normal value for confidence level α , C_p is the margin of error and p is the population proportion. The true population proportion is unknown. The standard way to handle this is to set the value of p to the proportion that would result in the largest sample size. This occurs when $p=0.5$. A 95% level of confidence was implemented in this study.

Not at All Likely to perform any of the non-strolling/transit connection activities	13
Total	378

Now, I am going to read a list of features. For each I read, please tell me how important each is to you when making your decision to engage in any of the activities you provided a "likely" response to. Please tell me if each of the following features is very important, somewhat important, just slightly important or not at all important in making your decision to engage in any of the activities. (Note: 13 of the respondents stated that they were "not at all likely" to engage in any of the non-strolling/transit activities.)

^ The relationship between sample size, confidence level, and margin of error when data are given in terms of proportions is described by the following formula:

where n is the sample size, Z_{α} is the standard normal value for confidence level α , C_p is the margin of error and p is the population proportion. The true population proportion is unknown. The standard way to handle this is to set the value of p to the proportion that would result in the largest sample size. This occurs when $p=0.5$. A 95% level of confidence was implemented in this study.
