Comments for Public Posting: The current proposal for a new LACMA is regressive--undertaking enormous, not-yet-funded, expenses for construction, while simultaneously reducing the available space for display of art and yet covering more land and "bridging" Wilshire Boulevard likely providing a new site for homeless encampment. There are myriad perspectives which illuminate the inadvisability of the proposed "new" LACMA, while there are other, less expensive, less disruptive options which merit consideration and implementation.
