Comments for Public Posting: I would like to call the committee's attention to reported Brown Act; ADA; and Civil Rights Act, Title VI violations, which have been ignored and may jeopardize this case's legality. BROWN ACT - The 5/14/20 CPC meeting was not "public." Access to the meeting was restricted to those who could access information in English* via the internet. Per the Brown Act, "all meetings of the legislative body of a local agency shall be open and public, and all persons shall be permitted to attend any meeting of the legislative body of a local agency," but individuals with blocked phone numbers were not allowed to speak. The CPC's Virtual Hearing Instructions state, "all decision-makers, board members, and hearing officers will be participating from separate locations using remote meeting technology while safer-at-home orders are in place. They will only be visible to each other. Members of the public will be able to listen to the meeting audio and offer public comment via phone when called upon for each agenda item." This policy clearly negates the entire purpose of a "public hearing" by restricting visual access to "decision-makers, board members, and hearing officers." Restricting public access to proceedings is a clear violation of the Brown Act and ignores the Governor's Executive Order N-25-20 for state and local bodies to "make reasonable efforts to adhere as closely as reasonably possible to the provision of the Bagley-Keene Act and the Brown Act, and other applicable local laws regulating the conduct of public meetings, in order to maximize transparency and provide public access to their meetings." TITLE IV & ADA - On 5/14/20, the CPC rejected the appeal submitted by J. Wong and K. Scanlan, Signees of Change.org. The CPC meeting did not provide "meaningful access" to the meeting was not provided for residents who do not have consistent internet, a computer, are deaf, and do not speak English.* Translation should have been available as ~40% of households in the project's census tracts have one or more family members with limited English Proficiency (LEP), exceeding the 5% Title IV threshold (Price School of Public Policy, 2019). Additionally, Ms. Wong and Ms. Scanlan provided the CPC with a written request for Spanish translation, received and acknowledged by Ms. Wan from the CPC on 5/8/20 but translation was not provided at the meeting, nor were the agenda or meeting notifications translated. The right to language access was exemplified when a California judge ruled in favor of the residents stating that " [the residents'] meaningful involvement in the CEQA review process was effectively precluded by the absence of the Spanish translation" (El Pueblo Para el Aire y Agua Limpio v. Kings County, 1991). Translation is necessary to ensure nondiscriminatory public participation and Brown Act compliance. Despite the Justice Department's (26, 41455) recommendations, the CPC does not have a LEP Plan. Such a lack of regard for LEP residents is also observed in their agenda where a single sentence alerts constituents that they may request translation services but gives no guidelines on how to make this request. Their agenda also ignores the area's large Korean speaking population. Access to the meeting was constrained and denying constituents full participation and willfully violated provisions of ADA. There was no way for participants to access or comment via sign language or text. Limiting the public's visual access while providing this to staff members and decision-makers violates the Brown Act, Order N-25-20, and ADA. ETHICS VIOLATIONS - During the 5/14/20 hearing, the appellants were given 5 minutes to present and were not allowed to respond, provide clarification, refute false claims, or otherwise interact with the CPC. In contrast, the meeting chair offered the defendants, Jamison Services, "as much time as you need." The defendants were also allowed to directly address the board and provide rebuttal. In light of Jamison's extensive campaign contributions to Garcetti and

Committee for a Safer Los Angeles, a committee associated with several money laundering cases created by CPC President S. Millman, such blatant favoritism is unethical and possibly illegal. The appellants, in this case, are not the public and have the same rights as the defendant. Special treatment towards Jamison is a serious ethics violation. This flagrant favoritism is also against the agency's own rules: "7.1 At times, the Commission must necessarily limit the speaking times of those presenting testimony on either side of a subject that is designated as a public hearing agenda item. In all instances, however, equal time shall be allowed for presentation of pros and cons of agenda items to be acted upon." Additionally, the CPC participated in a blatantly unethical quid-pro-quo whereby Jamison's representative threatened to withhold affordable housing unless the CPC immediately deny the appeal and approve the development. Dear Members of the City Planning Commission and D.A. Yochelson,

This letter is to call your attention to what we believe were substantial violations of a central provision of the Ralph M. Brown Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and Title VI of the Civil Rights Act per Executive Order 13166, which may jeopardize the finality of the action taken by Deputy Advisory Agency and City Planning Commission. This complaint involves the following cases and complainants.

Case A: City Planning Commission meeting 5/14/2020 for 3440 Wilshire Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90005; Case No: CPC-2016-3692-VZC-MCUP-SPR, VTT-74602; CEQA: ENV-2016-3693-EAF and the appeal presented by the complainants Jennifer Wong and Katelyn Scanlan, Signees of Change.org.

Case B: Deputy Advisory Agency meeting 5/19/2020 for 4629-4651 West Maubert Avenue; Case No: VTT-82654, DIR-2019-3760-TOC-SPP-SPR; CEQA: ENV-2019-3761-SCPE. Complainants include Elizabeth Isralowitz, Carol Cetrone, Susan Winsberg, and David Wheatley

The nature of the violations are as follows:

I. Case A and B

(1) Brown Act violation

The action taken was not in compliance with the Brown Act because the meeting was not held in "public." Access to the meeting was restricted to those who could access information in English and through the internet. According to the Brown Act, "all meetings of the legislative body of a local agency shall be open and public, and all persons shall be permitted to attend any meeting of the legislative body of a local agency." In addition, as noted in the original appeal presented for Case A, individuals "with blocked phone numbers are not allowed to speak in the public forum" (see Attachment A1).

According to the Planning Department's Virtual Hearing Instructions - Non-Commission Public Hearings and Board Meetings (e.g., Case B):

"All decision-makers, board members, and hearing officers will be participating from separate locations using remote meeting technology while safer-at-home orders are in place. They will only be visible to each other. Members of the public will be able to listen to the meeting audio and offer public comment via phone when called upon for each agenda item." This policy clearly negates the entire purpose of a "public hearing" by closing all visual access to "decision-makers, board members, and hearing officers." This differentiation of access to the hearing proceedings is contrary to both the letter and spirit of the Brown Act and does not meet the burden set by the Governor's Executive Order N-25-20 (3/4/2020) for state and local bodies to "make reasonable efforts to adhere as closely as reasonably possible to the provision of the Bagley-Keene Act and the Brown Act, and other applicable local laws regulating the conduct of public meetings, in order to maximize transparency and provide public access to their meetings."

(2) Discrimination based on Title IV of the Civil Rights Act and ADA

All these requirements blatantly are exclusionary and discriminate against an entire portion of Koreatown constituents that are not tech-savvy, do not have access to a computer, or wifi but could otherwise attend a meeting in person. Based on a report by USC's Annenberg Research Network on International Communication (Halperin, Wyatt, & Le, 2020) released April 16, 2020 "1 in 4 families with school-age children in LA County lack the technology resources" necessary for activities such as those required to access relevant information from the Planning Department website. The report also found that only "half of the K-12 households in the bottom 20% of the income distribution are equipped" with computers and broadband internet. Additionally, "regardless of income, students of color are less likely to have the technology resources." An estimated 40-50% of families residing in the Wilshire Center Koreatown region lack access to basic internet and technology (Partnership for Los Angeles Schools, 2020). With a median household income of just over $30,000 a year, an average household size of 3 people, and a population that is 91% people of color, the lack of technology access is not surprising and should have been considered when the Planning Department claimed it was able to provide all residents with "meaningful access," to "public" hearings.

Access to the meeting was constrained and was conducted in such a manner that denied constituents full participation and willfully violated provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). While the meeting instructions for case B clearly precluded the participation of those with hearing impairments and other disabilities that would impair an individual's ability to process information solely based on auditory cues, in Case A, the Planning Department's Virtual Commission Meeting Instructions (<https://planning.lacity.org/about/virtual-commission-instructions>) state that visual access will be provided for the meeting, "(to) access the live meeting video by clicking on the link at the top of the meeting agenda and entering the Meeting ID," but no information or Meeting ID was provided on the agenda (see Attachment A2) nor were presentation slides "made available on the live video." This lack of visual access to the hearing is contradictory to the Governor's conditions that the public has the right to "observe... the public meeting," which "includes, but not limited to, the requirement that such rights of access and public comment be made available in a manner consistent with the Americans with Disabilities Act." Limited visual access for the public despite the department's ability to provide such access as demonstrated by the provision of access to other decision-makers is clearly in violation of the Brown Act, Executive Order N-25-20, and ADA.

II. Case A

(1) Discrimination based on Title IV of the Civil Rights Act

In its meeting of May 14, 2020, the City Planning Commission took action via voting to reject the appeal submitted on April 3, 2020, by Jennifer Wong and Katelyn Scanlan, Signees of Change.org. The action taken was not in compliance with the Brown Act because the meeting was not held in "public." In addition to the above-mentioned Brown Act violation, the lack of provision of "meaningful access" to the meeting for residents without consistent broadband internet or a computer and who do not speak English represents a discriminatory violation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act. Additionally, per Executive Order 13166, access to translation services should have been made available as more than 5% of the population served by the Planning Department in the nearest two census tracts are designated are considered to demonstrate limited English proficiency (LEP). According to a report by USC's Price School of Public Policy (2019), approximately 40% of households in the census tracts surrounding the 3440 Wilshire Blvd project have one or more family members who are considered to have LEP, far exceeding the 5% federal threshold. Per the previously mentioned estimate and requests by community members represented by the complaints, Ms. Wong and Ms. Scanlan provided the Planning Department with a written request for oral Spanish translation. While this request was received and acknowledged by Ms. Wan from the Planning Department on May 8, 2020, translation services were not provided during the meeting, nor were items such as the agenda or the meeting notification sent to residents translated. There is significant legal precedent that, in some circumstances, providing language access may be the only way to facilitate public participation. In 1991 language access court case, a California judge ruled in favor of a community group representing the residents of an area with 40% limited English-proficient population stating that "[the residents'] meaningful involvement in the CEQA review process was effectively precluded by the absence of the Spanish translation" [El Pueblo Para el Aire y Agua Limpio v. County of Kings, 22 Env. L. Rptr. 20357, 20358 (Cal. Super. Ct. 1991)].

Despite the recommendations of the United States Justice Department (Justice Department, supra note 26, at 41455), the Planning Department does not have a publicly accessible Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Plan - for providing language access services. Such a lack of regard for residents with LEP is also observed in their agenda where no more than a single sentence alerts constituents that they may request translation services but gives no guidelines on such a request and is only provided in Spanish and ignores the large Korean speaking population within this area.

(2) Clear prejudicial preference for the defendant and disregard for parliamentary procedure and Planning Commission Standing Rules

During the May, 14th hearing regarding the appeal filed by Jennifer Wong, Katelyn Scanlan, and Signees of Change.org, the appellants were provided 5 minutes to present their case and were not allowed to respond to any comments, provide clarification, refute false claims, or have direct interactions with the Planning Commissioners. In contrast, the records will show that the meeting chair offered the defendants, representatives from Jamison Services, "as much time as you (they) need." The defendants were also given the ability to directly address the board and to respond to comments, questions, and to provide a rebuttal. Such blatant favoritism likely stems from the long relationship between members of the Commission and Jamison Services which have provided tens of thousands in campaign contributions to Garcetti and Committee for a Safer Los Angeles, independent expenditure committee created by City Planning Commission President Samantha Millman which has been associated with recent campaign money laundering cases.

While a recent ruling by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeal in Ribakoff v. City of Long Beach (2018) affirmed the right of governing boards to impose limits on the number of times and for how long a member of the public may comment on an agenda item while allowing invited speakers unlimited time to present to the board, as appellants in this case the complaints had a right to the same time and procedural affordances as the defendant, Jamison Services. Additionally, the flagrant favoritism displayed by the chair of the Planning Commission contradicts the agency's own standing rules.

7.0 PUBLIC HEARINGS

7.1 At times, the Commission must necessarily limit the speaking times of those presenting testimony on either side of a subject that is designated as a public hearing agenda item. In all instances, however, equal time shall be allowed for presentation of pros and cons of agenda items to be acted upon."

Further insult was added when the agency allowed for a blatant quid-pro-quo whereby representatives of Jamison Services threatened to withhold the provision of affordable housing if the Commission did not deny the appeal and approve the development.

Case B:

On May 19, 2020, the Planning Department's Deputy Advisory Agency voted to approve a Vesting Tentative Tract map for the merger of 5 separate parcels into one lot. The applicant requested an 80% increase in allowable density, a decrease in required parking, a 33-foot increase in max permitted building height, a 25% reduction in the required open space, and a 45% increase in the permitted Floor Area Ratio (FAR). The applicant was additionally seeking a Site Plan Review, a Project Permit Compliance Review, and certification of the project as exempt from California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) in exchange for 17 units reserved for low-income housing. I and several others were on the phone to speak at a remote planning meeting. The planning official asked if there were more public comments on the item, waited less than 5 seconds, and then just moved on. I immediately called the planning department and spoke to Daniel, who was the front desk clerk, and told him that they needed to stop because several people trying were trying to speak, but we were all force muted before we could press *9. He contacted the person running the meeting, who said that I should just email them later. I stated that this was a Brown Act violation, and they needed to stop and let us speak.

Only after the vote on our agenda item had been taken, and several of us finally got to speak during the next item, complaining that we had wished to speak on the previous item but couldn't get unmuted, did the planning representative allow us to speak. But after we spoke, they did not allow the developer to respond to us, nor did they redo the vote, rendering our comments moot in relation to the outcome.

When I contacted Daniel, the clerk again and asked where to put in a complaint about this, he again said to email him, and he would forward it to the planning representative. This information was completely incorrect, as there is a specific portion of the county DA's office that handles things such as Brown Act violations.

Regarding the Maubert hearing: On the day of the hearing, May 19, 2020, I requested that Mr. Hernández "Cure and Correct" the Brown Act violation caused by his lack of willingness to hear public comment. Despite not having completed the agenda item, Mr. Hernández refused to allow public comment. Even later in the meeting, when several members of the public complained that they had been blocked from providing comments, he refused to "Cure and Correct" the issue, only allowing comments, but not allowing the applicant to respond to the public comment or reauthorizing the vote. Based on the actions of Mr. Hernández, the public was clearly denied the opportunity to address the decision-making body before or during their consideration of this case.

Request to Cure and Correct Illegal Actions

The actions were taken by officials within the Los Angeles Planning Department on May 14 and May 19, 2020 were not in compliance with the Brown Act and federal discrimination protections under Title VI because the public was denied access to and the ability to provide public comment during these meetings. As you are aware, the Brown Act creates specific agenda obligations that "[e]very agenda for regular meetings shall provide an opportunity for members of the public to directly address the legislative body on any item of interest to the public, before or during the legislative body's consideration of the item, that is within the subject matter jurisdiction of the legislative body" Cal. Govt. Code Section 54954.3(a) and also creates a legal remedy for illegally taken actions—namely, the judicial invalidation of them upon proper findings of fact and conclusions of law.

Pursuant to that provision (Government Code Section 54960.1), we demand that the Los Angeles Planning Department cure and correct the illegally taken action as follows: nullification of the decisions made by the Planning Commission and Department representatives on cases 3440 Wilshire Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90005, Case No: CPC-2016-3692-VZC-MCUP-SPR, VTT-74602 and 4629-4651 West Maubert Avenue; Case No: VTT-82654; readdress these cases at a public Planning Commission meeting during which Spanish translation of the meeting will be provided including the full translation of the meeting agenda and a summary of the previously mentioned cases, equal time and ability to respond to comments will be given to the appellants, and disclosure at a subsequent meeting of why individual members of the legislative body took the positions — by vote or otherwise — that they did, accompanied by the full opportunity for informed comment by members of the public at the same meeting, notice of which is properly included on the posted agenda. Informed comment includes public access to all documents in the possession of the local agency related to the action taken, including any supporting documents and presentation materials from the developer/defendant within a timely manner as specified by the Brown Act.

As provided by Section 54960.1, the Planning Department has 30 days from the receipt of this demand to either cure or correct the challenged action or inform us of their decision not to do so. If they fail to cure or correct as demanded, such inaction will leave us no recourse but to seek a judicial invalidation of the challenged action pursuant to Section 54960.1, in which we request the court to order the Planning department to pay any court costs and reasonable attorney fees in this matter, pursuant to Section 54960.5.

In addition, we ask that all members of the Planning Department who have direct interactions with the public be trained in online governance and the Brown Act. We propose such a training focus on practical solutions that safeguard public rights to participation in local governance and ensure inclusive public participation for all constituents regardless of ability and English-language proficiency. Moving governance online provides the Planning Department with a unique opportunity to truly democratize decision-making in ways not possible before, and that department officials need to rise to the occasion. While we acknowledge the transition to remote meetings has not been easy, we believe that if officials are unable or unwilling to provide adequate time for and thoughtfully consider public comment, they cannot make legitimate decisions in cases such as these. The Planning Department and other city agencies should consider other ways to allow for the submission of public comments such as through social media, a chat system, or by creating an authenticated voting system so people can upvote comments digitally to make them more visible.

Respectfully yours,

Jennifer,

The 5/8 deadline is for participants (applicant, appellants, council office representatives).
The general public can still dial in the day of and will be called by the last four digits of their phone numbers.

The time allotted for a person to speak is determined the day of by the Commission Chairperson.
The agenda will be posted today or tomorrow at the latest.
You will see the agenda item number on the posted agenda.

The CEQA case number for both CPC-2016-3692-VZC-MCUP-SPR and VTT-74802 is ENV-2016-3693-MND.
VTT-74802-1A is the appeal case number for VTT-74802.

VTT-74802 was approved and appealed, thus the 1A suffix was added for the appeal case.

Please let me know if you have any other questions.

Thank You.

Iris,

We have some questions about your procedure and the timing.

- What happens to the people who want to join after the May 8th deadline to provide contact and phone information?
- How many minutes will each person be allowed to speak?
- I am not finding the Commission Agenda posted online at planning.lacity.org under Commissions or Hearings.
- I see the case # CPC-2016-3692-VZC-MCUP-SPR but where is the Agenda Item Number?
- Is it the same as the CEQA number?
- What is VTT-74802-1A?

Please let us know as soon as possible.

Hi Jennifer and Katelyn,

In conformity with the Governor's Executive Order N-29-20 (March 17, 2020) and due to concerns over COVID19, the CPC Commission meeting will be conducted entirely telephonically.

You will be provided with a Zoom dial in phone number and meeting ID prior to the date of the Commission Meeting. This information is also noted on the Commission Agenda posted online at planning.lacity.org. All participants who dial in are automatically muted and will appear simply as a phone number on the Zoom screen accessible to Planning staff. In order to identify you upon entry into the meeting, please provide the last four digits of the phone number you will be using to dial in, as well as your full name, and the case number/agenda item number you represent. This information is necessary in order for Commission staff to rename you in the Zoom screen "participants list" when you enter the meeting and will make you easily identifiable so staff can unmute you when it is your time to present.

NOTE: Blocked numbers will not be allowed to speak since the Commission Office will not be able to see/identify a number to call out for your turn to speak. When your agenda item number comes up, please press *9 to "raise your hand". Commission staff will then unmute you and you can begin to present for your allotted time. Commission Office will track your allotted time and give you a two minute warning before the end of your allotted time, subsequently re-muting your line when your allotted time has concluded. Should there be any questions from the Commissioners or Planning staff requiring your response, you will again be unmuted.

Please let me know if you have any questions, and provide the requested information by 05/08/20.

Thank You.
