Comments for Public Posting: I have already reached out to Paul Koretz, but writing to support opposition to the provisions of SB 9 and SB10. When I first heard about these proposals, I was deeply troubled. Lawmakers in Northern California do not understand the unique challenges of Los Angeles and it is arrogance for them to think so. They need to simply ask themselves what housing-related factors contributed to the fact that Los Angeles--not San Francisco--became the COVID epicenter in the State of California. Listen to the experts on this. Los Angeles needs to address the severe problem of homelessness and the lack of affordable housing, but we need to do this locally--not by dictates from "on high" in Sacramento.

BHA has been actively opposed to the Sacramento legislation introduced over the last three years to eliminate single-family zoning. Our members have sent hundreds of letters to support our efforts. As you are aware, S.B. 9 (Atkins) and S.B. 10 (Weiner) were introduced this year in the fourth attempt to up-zone single-family residential areas across the state in the guise of promoting affordable housing. We agree that affordable housing is the number one issue facing Los Angeles and other cities in California. Rather than contribute to a solution, these Senate bills will increase housing prices, accelerate gentrification, and cause more homelessness in Los Angeles. The only ones to benefit from these bills will be developers and land speculators. Hoping for a trickle-down effect to supply more affordable housing is bad public policy. Will it work? And how long will it take? How will the city deal with the pressures of an already over-taxed and aging infrastructure? Or the need for more open spaces and parks with increased density? Why increase density in Severe High Fire Zones? And what happens to the Community Plans currently being updated? These bills take away the taxpayers' voice about their neighborhood and their city. BHA urges the entire City Council to support Councilmember Koretz's resolutions against S.B. 9 and S.B. 10. The Council's support will send a strong, unified message that the city will not turn over its responsibility for governing to Sacramento. There are solutions for smart growth near transit and the many city-owned properties that are vacant or underutilized. One example is the former West L.A. Animal Shelter on S. Bundy and Missouri. It sat empty for more than a decade but will soon have 74 apartments available for low-income households. There are plenty of locations in Los Angeles that can be repurposed to accommodate the affordable housing that we desperately need. State and Federal funds are needed to build. BHA is prepared to support our City leaders in crafting policies and regulations that will lead to the creation of more affordable housing. We hope you will support us. Sincerely,

RE: S.B. 9 and S.B. 10

The Brentwood Homeowners Association (BHA) represents residents of 4,500 single family homes and condominiums north of San Vicente Blvd. to the Santa Monica Mountains, west of the 405, and east of Canyon View Drive. BHA has been actively opposed to the Sacramento legislation introduced over the last three years to eliminate single-family zoning. Our members have sent hundreds of letters to support our efforts.

As you are aware, S.B. 9 (Atkins) and S.B. 10 (Weiner) were introduced this year in the fourth attempt to up-zone single-family residential areas across the state in the guise of promoting affordable housing. We agree that affordable housing is the number one issue facing Los Angeles and other cities in California. Rather than contribute to a solution, these Senate bills will increase housing prices, accelerate gentrification, and cause more homelessness in Los Angeles. The only ones to benefit from these bills will be developers and land speculators.

Hoping for a trickle-down effect to supply more affordable housing is bad public policy. Will it work? And how long will it take? How will the city deal with the pressures of an already over-taxed and aging infrastructure? Or the need for more open spaces and parks with increased density? Why increase density in Severe High Fire Zones? And what happens to the Community Plans currently being updated? These bills take away the taxpayers' voice about their neighborhood and their city.

BHA urges the entire City Council to support Councilmember Koretz's resolutions against S.B. 9 and S.B. 10. The Council's support will send a strong, unified message that the city will not turn over its responsibility for governing to Sacramento. There are solutions for smart growth near transit and the many city-owned properties that are vacant or underutilized. One example is the former West L.A. Animal Shelter on S. Bundy and Missouri. It sat empty for more than a decade but will soon have 74 apartments available for low-income households. There are plenty of locations in Los Angeles that can be repurposed to accommodate the affordable housing that we desperately need. State and Federal funds are needed to build.

BHA is prepared to support our City leaders in crafting policies and regulations that will lead to the creation of more affordable housing. We hope you will support us.
