Comments for Public Posting: I think it is necessary to provide some sort of proof that someone is indeed a stakeholder in Sunland-Tujunga (that they live, work, own property, or own a business within our boundaries). It is not voter suppression because everyone needs to have some sort of identification. If no evidence is required anyone could try to vote in our election, even if they are not stakeholders. They could even make up names that live at a certain address and get 5, 10, 20 ballots mailed to them. I am completely against vote-by-Mail only. It was so hard for me to upload my CA Driver's license for the mail-in ballot. I went to my elderly neighbors to try to get them to register online, and they could not believe they couldn't vote in person. Many were completely turned off and refused to let me help them register. This almost seems like it is biased against the elderly, or those without computers. We need to return to in-person voting. In-person is safer because the voters show their ID or proof they are a stakeholder. In-person is also better because it would be more difficult for someone to vote more than once. Thank you.
