Comments for Public Posting: I strongly urge you to fully fund the Wildlife Ordinance. This ordinance will provide desperately needed protections for wildlife habitat and improve the city's climate resilience and fire resilience. As we face the effects of climate change and the resulting changes in our fire season, protecting existing habitat and creating additional habitat is absolutely essential to prevent Los Angeles from becoming a heat desert and an urban wasteland. The interspersal of wild lands with human habitation is part of what has always made Los Angeles so extraordinary; it's time to put resources into preserving and protecting that unique aspect of our city's geography. Let's fund this ordinance and move forward with the Wildlife Corridor pilot study so that we don't lose one of the things that makes Los Angeles great.
