Comments for Public Posting: I strongly urge members of PLUM to designate The Chili Bowl as a Los Angeles Cultural-Historic monument. Programmatic architecture is especially important to the development of Los Angeles, as it ties in with Hollywood's fantastical element and also the dominance of the car. The restorations of The Idle Hour and also Tail O' the Pup, prove how beloved and viable as businesses these structures are. The CHC has already determined that The Chili Bowl merits designation. Too many of these structures are just memories, but now, there's an opportunity to bring one back as another preservation success story.
