I've been riding the bus for ten years in Florida and here In regard to the Vaccine Ordinance, According to our Council on the 11th, I will quote Nury Martinez "Your rights just do not work for me anymore". I think it is disgraceful that she could say that our constitution-protected rights don't work for her anymore. Without having symptoms of any illness, you are labeling me dangerous to children, and to public health. The concept of dictating who participated in society based on the argument of public health has been used in the well-known Eugenics movement 8/17 at 2:30 City Council is about to provide compensation reparations to Eugenics era women who were forced into sterilization because their human rights at the time "didn't work" for certain legislators and were considered a danger to public health. If you cannot see the correlation then you clearly are refusing to see The Eugenics Movement included forced medical treatments, forced hospitalization, and forced removal from civic society. This did not happen quickly, this happened with small steps and the removal of human rights that "didn't work" for certain legislatures. This eugenics movement was the inspiration to people like Adolf Hitler. You must stop this runaway train before it destroys the ethical balance of this whole city. In regard to the Vaccine Ordinance, On the 11th, Nury Martinez said "Your rights just do not work for me anymore". This reminded me of the type of rhetoric used in the Eugenics Movement. June 13, 1913 CA passed a law stating that Anyone who was "afflicted with hereditary insanity or incurable chronic mania or dementia" could be sterilized. 1915 San Francisco promoted "positive eugenics" as a way to counter race degeneracy. They warned against the "moron girl", and those who were abnormal as a biological threat. Eugenics was integrated into the curriculum of California's public schools. Textbooks contained the "evidence" supporting the cause. "mentally defective" immigrants were deported at a rate of about 37 immigrants per year, with about half being Mexican or Filipino. This eugenics movement was the inspiration to people like Adolf Hitler. You must stop this runaway train before it destroys the ethical balance of this whole city. Comments for Public Posting: Quote from a Hungarian Jew from the documentary, The Last Days: "People wonder, "how is it that we didn't do something". We didn't run away, we didn't hide. Well, things didn't happen at once. Things happened very slowly. So each time a new law came out, or a new restriction, we said, "well, just another thing. It will blow over". When we had to wear the yellow star to be outside we started to worry". We see the parallel and it should frighten us all. I know it does me.
