Comments for Public Posting: Dear City Council, I have noticed that there are many more cars and motorcycles that have super loud motors / exhaust noise. It is painful to my ears and ruins a neighborhood walk or even cycling along the beach. I am told that California law limits motorcycles and vehicles to 80 decibels, and yet I often hear cars and motorcycles well beyond that. I often wonder why they are allowed to get away with this type of noise pollution. While I do not wish to see more armed police officers doing traffic enforcement, I ask that the city clamp down on the shops performing these illegal exhaust modifications. Solving this problem will create a more livable city. Thank you, Bernadette Jaeger Los Angeles, 90025

Comments for Public Posting: Dear City Council, In my part of Los Angeles, I am kept awake by illegally loud exhaust noise. While I enjoy being in an urban environment, I didn't sign up for living on a racetrack. California law limits motorcycles and vehicles to 80 decibels, and yet I often hear cars and motorcycles well beyond that. People seem to drive with these illegally modified exhaust systems with impunity. While I do not wish to see more armed police officers doing traffic enforcement, I ask that the city clamp down on the shops performing these illegal exhaust modifications. Solving this problem will create a more livable city. Thank you, Michael Peck

Comments for Public Posting: Dear City Council, I live in Mt. Washington. Just last night my kid and I were relxing in our living room and a bunch of motorcycles with illegally modified mufflers came roaring by. We had to stop our conversation and cover our ears. We were INDOORS! This is one of the things I hate the most about living in a city. I have read that California law limits motorcycles and vehicles to 80 decibels, and yet--similarly to our gas-powered, polluting leafblower laws--it goes totally unenforced, to all of our detriment. People seem to drive with these illegally modified exhaust systems with impunity. While I do not wish to see more armed police officers doing traffic enforcement, I ask that the city clamp down on the shops performing these illegal exhaust modifications. Solving this problem will create a more livable city. Thanks.

Comments for Public Posting: Dear City Council Members, In my Los Angeles neighborhood, I often hear illegally loud exhaust noise. While I appreciate living in an urban environment, I didn't sign up for living in such conditions. California law limits motorcycles and vehicles to 80 decibels, and yet I often hear cars and motorcycles well beyond that. People seem to drive with these illegally modified exhaust systems with absolutely no consequences. While I do not wish to see more armed police officers doing traffic enforcement, I ask that the city clamp down on the shops performing these illegal exhaust modifications. Thank you for your time. Sincerely,
Edward Miller Los Angeles, CA 90019

Comments for Public Posting: Dear Council Members, Obscenely loud cars are a blight on our city. They disrupt peaceful residential neighborhoods, disrupt the nascent outdoor dining scene, and are distracting and dangerous to cyclists, public transit riders, and pedestrians like me. Please help make our city more livable and pleasant for anyone who chooses to not be in a car. Thank you, Matt Stauffer Los Angeles, 90006

Comments for Public Posting: Dear City Council, I suffer from the overly loud noise of hyper-loud exhausts. Is there no law to limit the sound of these engines? They actually drive up my blood pressure and represent a danger to my health. I've learned that some people even try to make their engines louder, which seems criminal to me. Please outlaw this noise enhancement. And if there is a law against such noise in general, please enforce it. Thank you, Reuven Firestone
