Comments for Public Posting: I don't even know where to begin regarding this.....Let's see if you can follow along. 1. Community of Color is poorer than say, where the mayor lives. Crime is high. Who will try to open a new business in these areas that are full of blight (graffiti, garbage, subpar housing) and rampant crime. Young people who want to work their way out used to be able to get a low skilled job to teach them skills and job responsibilities. 2. Mayor and Council people who are pro illegal immigration. Illegal immigrants come in and undervalue and undercut the low skilled job. Employer now can pay less and under the table. 3. Now we have 2 sets of people living in poverty. The young person who is let go from the job because the employer can pay an undocumented person less to do it and the undocumented person because they are charging something that no one can live on. How are we doing so far? Wouldn't it make more sense to allow School Choice so that there isn't education inequality? Instead of forcing everyone to stay in the rut our city has created? Wouldn't it make more sense to increase police presence in areas rife with crime instead of defunding the police? Wouldn't it make more sense to empower everyone instead of pitting each against the Bad White Folk? At one point you have to realize how continuing to coddle and victimize any race of people is never the way to empower them. But then a dependent victim is easier to control.
