Comments for Public Posting: As a former youth from Los Angeles who has seen firsthand the lack of investment within my community, I support item number 1 because moving $300,000 into the Youth Development Department would allow the department to create a truly comprehensive three-year strategic plan. This request is the first step to ensuring that our city creates a long-term vision for its 800k youth and invests in positive youth development to tangibly support all of us in reaching our fullest potential. Moving forward, the department has the responsibility of creating a department that listens to the demands of young people and gives us decision-making power, especially when we are being directly affected. Any third-party contractors hired should also have a history of youth and community engagement. I encourage you all to continue prioritizing LA youth by ensuring long-term investment and a consistent funding stream so this youth department is fully functional and able to meet the real needs of young Angelenos.

Comments for Public Posting: As a youth from Los Angeles who has experienced and seen the lack of investment within my community, I support the moving of $300,000 into the Youth Development Department because it would allow the department to create a comprehensive three year strategic plan to ensure that our city creates a long term vision for its more than 800,000 youth while investing in positive youth development to truly support all of us in reaching our fullest potential. Moving forward, the Youth Development Department has the responsibility to listen to the demands of young people and give us decision-making power, especially when we are being directly affected. Any third party contractors hired should also have a positive, credible, and effective history of youth and community engagement. I encourage you all to continue prioritizing L.A. youth by ensuring long-term investment and a consistent funding stream to the Youth Development Department in order for it to be fully functional and able to meet the real needs of young people in our city.

Comments for Public Posting: As a community organizer with LA Voice and adult ally in the Invest in Youth Campaign, I see the need for investment in youth in our city. I support item number 1 because moving $300,000 into the Youth Development Department would allow the department to create a truly comprehensive three year strategic plan. This request is the first step to ensuring that our city creates a long term vision for its 800k youth and invests in positive youth development to tangibly support them in reaching their fullest potential as leaders in our city. We want a Youth Development Department that takes seriously the responsibility of listening to the demands of young people and giving them decision-making power over their future. Any third party contractors hired should also have a history of youth and community engagement. I encourage you to continue prioritizing LA youth by ensuring long-term investment and a consistent funding stream so this youth department is fully functional and able to meet the real needs of young Angelenos.
