Comments for Public Posting: We own a small duplex apartment in San Pedro. Both units are occupied, neither is paying rent, and expenses continue to occur. One of the tenants, unpaid since the beginning of the program, has been driving a high-end BMW, sporting expensive fingernail treatments, apparently leaves minor children home alone, and is employed. While we have received partial income (so far one check per unit) from the complicated compensation program, trying to get all paperwork filed both from tenants and the management company (we are elderly and unable to fully manage the business) and action taken is another nightmare in itself. This form of income is unreliable, inconsistent, and far less than current. Not only is this unprofitable, but this is putting large burdens on our finances, with no end in sight. Please END this program IMMEDIATELY, which seems to go on endlessly, while other areas have sensibly ended this some time ago ! Thank you for your QUICK attention !
