Comments for Public Posting: I would like to announce my support for making Oil Can Harry's an Historical Cultural Monument. As a Studio City resident, Oil Can Harrys was and is a vital part of the neighborhood. It's historical record in the LGBTQ+ community is extremely important and it has also inspired generations of artists who have used the bar in films, photographs and short stories. It was a fun, safe and unique place to rejoice in the waning western-country culture in the Southland, to line dance, to drink and to meet new people.
