Comments for Public Posting: I see all these videos of nithyaraman advocating for no rent increase , no eviction yet nothing from her about enforcing responsibility or accountability for the tenants to pay. Why don't you Nithya Raman ask for entire service industry to provide everything for free to these people where groceries , healthcare, food at fancy restaurants, hotels every bloody service is free and you can become the next freaking president of a socialist country. I see you are a Harvard graduate , honestly you don't deserve it . Your data, logic and ideologies are flawed ! You and your peers who have been advocating for these ridiculous policies , why don't you guys pay our bills and support the landlords like how you are supporting the tenants. I really hope you all have some ethics, morals and conscience as a human begins and more so as true public servants ( which at this point is a big facade) to lift the bloody moratorium . Enough is enough.

Comments for Public Posting: I must say LA city council members will single handedly enable turning California red. Your far left ideologies which encourages the behavior or looting and snatching things from people like us who have worked hard and try to make a better living for us and kids and reward complacency, diminish the power of hard work ,sincerity and taking responsibility. People will leave california, then all of you who are promoting this unfair and unjust , unethical policies can take all the properties. Your policies are no worse than what saddam Husain , taliban or any other dictator policies are out there that america talks about policing, you need to introspect a bit more . And by the way end this unfair moratorium and pay us our rents back .
