Comments for Public Posting: Please support this initiative. In my mind, there is nothing more important than creating a livable city - livable for human beings, not cars. A city that is environmentally friendly, community based and affordable. We need to be forward thinking in the way the LCI presents. The model we have right now isn't working. It's destroying our planet and our mental health and well being. I for one, cannot wait to live in a new, walkable, livable Los Angeles and will be among the first to sign up.

Comments for Public Posting: Hello, I strongly urge the City Council to adopt the Livable Communities Initiative, Program 131 of the Housing Element. The LCI would be a transformative first step towards addressing LA's housing crisis and making our neighborhoods more sustainable and pedestrian-friendly. The vision put forward by the LCI is the city I want my children to grow up in. Thank you, Lila Byock
