Comments for Public Posting: I fear I may have had a typo in the email address of my last comment because I did not receive a confirmation. This process should not be so taxing on people as not all of us are technically inclined. We should be able to make a comment and be done without all this silly cross-checking. This is not a national security situation and public comment should be as simple as possible for the public. Now my, otherwise, thoughtful comment will be reduced to the following: LA City Council is liable for the irresponsible transformation of VNY airport. They should have acted in the best interest of humanity and Los Angeles residents in respect to an airport sandwiched between endless communities. None of the contracts that have occurred since 2010, or even 2000 should have been allowed because all of our communities have existed for decades and the moment the City encouraged the Valley to explode in population, the officials then became obligated to protect that population and to put our collective rights, health and well being as priority. Bob Blumfield's office ignored my family's complaints in years past over increasing propeller aircraft burden. Even if airborne activity is under the FAA's control, VNY airport was under the city's control. They did not have to open prop park without exploring all legal options to instate some sort of rules of conduct agreement for those who wish to land or take-off from VNY. They should have consulted community and complete an impact study. And City Council should have done the same before even considering those fixed based operation facilities. I'm told VNY phased out the noisier propeller aircraft in the past, well its time to phase out some more. And it's time ban those Bombardier aircraft from landing or taking off from VNY because the horrifying whistling sound is torture for our animals, torture for our own nervous system, creates pain for me in my inner ear, and has triggered PTSD for our local veteran, per online posts. What type of negligence or corruption or greed permitting the transformation of VNY? Please deny renewal of customs services at VNY in 2023. This airport should not be international at the expense of the public. Thank you. Mrs. Suavez, Friar St, Woodland Hills
