Comments for Public Posting: I encourage the City Council to expand the Slow Streets program by: allocating additional funding for LADOT to complete the existing permanent slow street plans that are pending and hire additional personnel to help with design and implementation implementing traffic calming elements on many more residential streets and including the “stress free connections” streets identified in LADOT’s recent report

Comments for Public Posting: I strongly support expanding the Slow Streets program. This is long overdue in Los Angeles. The temporary measures put in place during the pandemic finally made it tolerable to walk and bike in our streets - now is the time to make those measures permanent, complete the network already planned by LADOT, and expand the program beyond its current very modest range. Please help make our streets safe for walking and biking, and vote in support of LADOT's recommendation to invest in Slow Streets.
