Comments for Public Posting: Nithya - how can you be such a whiny little brat holding a public office and now keeping the ordinance hostage from being voted on. You are a public servant making &250,000 and yet you are sitting and whining because you don't have a better answer against an intelligent argument ? How lame are you ? Grow up and stop being a petulant human that you are. You are destroying the lives of thousands of mom and pop housing providers . I cannot sell my property because you and your policies have turned my tenant into an entitled , lazy citizen who only whines exactly like you.

Comments for Public Posting: How is it that these tenants show up for every single meeting at city council , every fucking meeting to be disruptive and are entitled as shit , but on the same token cannot and go get a job and work and get paid?? And the blanket protections are being misused by many many tenants who can actually fucking pay and more than pay the rent. And here we are dealing with our properties that are being held hostage by the city, city council and the tenants. What right do these ppl have ? My tenant says that the property needs lots of repairs - Ofcourse it does , if it bothers you so much leave !! No one is holding you to stay here
