Comments for Public Posting: These safety improvements for Anaheim Street are sorely needed with 15 documented collisions last year. I've seen firsthand what measures like safer crosswalks and protected bike lanes can do to make a street safer, but it took a concerted campaign and the loss of a life before those changes were made near my work. Let's act now before anyone else gets hurt.

Comments for Public Posting: Anaheim Street in Wilmington is an extremely dangerous street due to its proximity to the freeway, with multiple pedestrian and cyclist injuries precipitating the need for these changes (15 known collisions in 2022, though our count is often underreported). The improvements made, including traffic calming, new protected bike lanes, and safer crosswalks, will make a big difference.

Comments for Public Posting: Anaheim Street in Wilmington is extremely dangerous. One reason is the proximity to the freeway, contributing to multiple pedestrian and cyclist injuries precipitating the need for these changes (15 known collisions in 2022, though our count is often underreported) traffic calming, new protected bike lanes, and safer crosswalks, will make a big difference to people who wish to get more exercise and ward off chronic illness eg obesity, diabetes would perhaps be less discouraged by the inherent ugly danger of the present traffic set up. Please oppose anything that might water down these safety improvements

Comments for Public Posting: Please don't water down pedestrian and bicycle safety. Many low income, Spanish speaking people are often killed on the street. Vision Zero and traffic calming should be enforced to protect human lives.
