Comments for Public Posting: Given the problems we have seen exploring even small contracts at the $5k level and what appears to be too often contracts that are not fulfilled I cannot support raising the maximum to $25k. I understand that $5k may be annoying but I simply do not have trust in the city departments at this point. Perhaps a raise to 10k is reasonable. I also think this less formal contracts should be easily available to the public instead of having to rely on CPRA.
