Comments for Public Posting: I wanted to provide my support regarding William Marsh's right to conduct a swim teaching business from his personal pool. Aside from the legal permit rights he has already obtained with the City of Los Angeles, he is providing a necessary and life-saving skill to young children and their parents. I have personally worked with Bill for over 3 years and can assure you his methods are first and foremost quiet, he does not interrupt the quiet neighborhood nor does he allow his clients of children or parents to get above normal voice levels outdoors. His practice in keeping his classes small do not interrupt the street parking, neighborhood pollution or other environments looked for within a quiet family neighborhood. Bill has the upmost respect for his fellow neighbors and community around him. He has single-handedly helped many within our community to swim and to maintain life-saving methods when it comes to a pool, this is a true necessity in Los Angeles. Not allowing Bill to continue to provide such services, quietly and without interruption of his neighborhood, will be a true disgrace and disservice to the community he lives in. I strongly urge you to view Bill, his calm and quiet demeanor and respectful nature, allowing him to continue conducting swim lessons in his yard. Thank you.

Comments for Public Posting: I support bill to teach swimming at his home. He worked wonders with my son and I appreciate all his efforts to make him pool safe. I hope he can continue to teach swim for years to come from his home.
