Re: Opposition to Self-Storage Auction Motion, unless amended;
File No.: 20-0472 - Authored by Councilmember David Ryu

Dear Honorable Members,

I'm a bibliophile, phillumenist and ephemera collector under Richard Hopp v. City of Los Angeles (2010) 183 Cal. App. 4th 713; Richard Hopp v. City of Los Angeles (Super. Ct. LA County Nov. 13, 2008, BC401887) Stipulation for Entry of Judgment and Judgment, Jan. 18, 2012). Hopp is a case of first impression to define "business" and "dealer" at the appellate level vis-à-vis a stakeholder collecting, buying and acquiring secondhand goods and tangible personal property, including participating as a self-storage auction bidder. Cf., Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code, §§ 21500, 21627.

As a stalwart self-storage auction-goer, the personal opposition is related towards the silent and scant good faith purchaser definition in LAMC § 49.85.1 that conflicts with a competing state statute. Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 21711. The motion unwittingly imperils a good faith purchaser to unforeseen liability and unlawful mandates. John Nist v. Steven Hall, 2d Civil No. B284606 (Cal. Ct. App. May. 31, 2018). (emphasis added). Although, Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 21712 precisely governs the relationship of the storage facility owner and occupant. Halliburton v. Stadium Props., LLC, B284848 (Cal. Ct. App. Mar. 22, 2019).

Adequate clarity is a prerequisite so that a good faith purchaser is neither implicated, incriminated, filed against nor subject to an administrative citation

(LAMC § 49.85.3), criminal prosecution, unfair business practices (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 17200 et seq.), and exposed to third party claims. Inconstant and conflicting laws cannot subsist and persist. Broughton v. Cigna Healthplans of California, 21 Cal.4th 1066, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 334, 988 P.2d 67 (Cal. 1999)

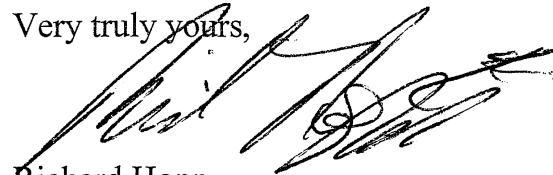

The nominal settlement of LAMC § 49.85.1 is bifurcate the section into subsections. The proposed amended language and the additional language underlined to read:

SEC. 49.85.1. DEFINITIONS.

- A. The following words and phrases, whenever used in this article, shall be construed as defined in Section 21701 of the California Business and Professions Code: “occupant,” “owner,” “personal property,” “rental agreement,” and “self-service storage facility.” “Local emergency period” is the period of time from March 4, 2020, to the end of the local emergency as declared by the Mayor.
- B. This article shall not apply to section 21711 of the California Business and Professions Code.

Thank you for your consideration of this letter. You can reach Richard Hopp at (818) 902-0532 or email: Mail@MrHopp.com to discuss further.

Very truly yours,

Richard Hopp
